Thanks for checking out my RootsTech course! All the tools I spoke about are native apps from Apple that are built into their software, hardware, and services.

Apple's website and support documents have loads of easy-to-understand information about how to use their products. Here are links to learn more about the specific tools I mentioned in my course:

There are tons of tips and tricks to be found on YouTube as well. I encourage you to go explore and find out how to better use these amazing tools.
